

Gary Gautier
drggautier@gmail.com

PUBLICATIONS VITA

PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

With a Ph.D. from CU-Boulder and an MA from UT-Austin, I've taught writing and literature at flagship universities and given numerous radio interviews. I've had an Amazon #1 bestseller (90-minute reads free), both fiction and poetry shortlisted for the Faulkner-Wisdom Prize, a novella selected for the Innovative Fiction Book Club, a children's book featured in the Children's Book Writers and Illustrators Market, a scholarly book in Mellen Press's Studies in British Literature series, and an adaptation of my novel, Mr. Robert's Bones, in the top 10% at the Austin Film Festival.

PUBLICATIONS

Fiction

Alice (shakemyheadhollow.com press, 2021), view at www.garygautier.weebly.com

Love's Ragged Claws (shakemyheadhollow.com press, 2021), view at www.garygautier.weebly.com

Goodbye, Maggie (shakemyheadhollow.com press, 2020), view at www.garygautier.weebly.com

Hippies (CreateSpace, 2017), view at www.garygautier.weebly.com

Mr. Robert's Bones (shakemyheadhollow.com press, 2015), view at www.weebly.com/garygautier.com

Children's Literature

Spaghetti and Peas (All About Kids Press, 2002), view at www.garygautier.weebly.com

Poetry

Schematics and Assemblies of the Cosmic Heart (shakemyheadhollow.com press, 2021), view at www.garygautier.weebly.com

Year of the Butterfly (shakemyheadhollow.com press, 2017), view at www.garygautier.weebly.com

Poetry published in Masticadores International (2021), Solid Quarter (2010), Natchez Poetry Anthology (2006), Concrete Wolf (2002), Louisiana English Journal (1998), and Silver Quill (1996).

Literary Criticism

Books

Landed Patriarchy in Fielding's Novels (Lewiston, NY: Edwin Mellen Press, 1998), 360 pages.

Intro. to the Random House edition of John Cleland's Memoirs of a Woman of Pleasure (2001).

Selected Articles

"Slavery and the Fashioning of Race in Oroonoko, Robinson Crusoe, and Equiano's Life," The Eighteenth Century: Theory and Interpretation 42 (2001): 161-79.

"Gothic Villains, Romantic Heroes, and a New Age of Power Relations," Genre 32 (1999): 201-34.

"Henry and Sarah Fielding on Romance and Sensibility," Novel 31 (1998): 195-214.

"Class, Gender, and the Unreliable Narrator in Fanny Hill," Style 28 (1994): 133-45.

IN PROGRESS

Fiction

Two Dreams and Two Hollows: Short stories and flash non-fiction covering a range of voices and styles, with an emphasis on quirky characters and dreamlike archetypal moments. Includes two previously published novellas (Goodbye, Maggie and Love's Ragged Claws).

The Second Coming (screen short): A Pentecostal, an atheist, and a retired stripper cross paths on the way to Baton Rouge.

EDUCATION

Ph.D. (English), Univ. of Colo. at Boulder, 1993; M.A. (English), Univ. of Texas at Austin, 1985.